

John Learner

sput-nik chandelier

It all started with the question: "Do you want these?" It was a box full of chrome file folder support brackets from a doctors office. The digital age eliminated the need for those big file cabinets. I accepted them like a treasure and secreted them into my house behind my wife's back (hoarding again!). I knew in that pile of shaped wires was something begging to be assembled. The pieces fell into place, first as a wheel then as a chandelier.