

Michael C. Butz
Go With the Flow

Life isn't always smooth sailing across calm seas. Sometimes it requires extra effort, persistence and a willingness to meet challenges presented to us. Like a Lake Erie surfer who braves the elements on a foggy Wednesday morning in February, we often have to keep trying — and keep moving — to remain afloat and navigate the choppy waters that separate us from where we want to be.