

Pollock Youngpole

Relatively Linked

I recently started creating photographic caricatures of my friends. During that process I decide to work on photos of my elderly cousin and his wife. While fooling around I created this piece. It combines six different photos of various relatives and wildlife that I stitched together. At first, I believed no one would appreciate this piece and it would remain on my computer forever. My hope is you will find it as strangely compelling as I do.